

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS
FIRST APPELLATE DISTRICT OF OHIO
HAMILTON COUNTY, OHIO

ARTHUR B. MITCHELL,	:	APPEAL NO. C-100061
	:	TRIAL NO. SP-0900062
Petitioner-Appellant,	:
	:	JUDGMENT ENTRY.
vs.	:
STATE OF OHIO,	:
Respondent-Appellee.	:

We consider this appeal on the accelerated calendar, and this judgment entry is not an opinion of the court.¹

In 1995, petitioner-appellant Arthur B. Mitchell pleaded guilty to and was convicted of two counts of sexual battery. Mitchell was sentenced to consecutive terms of two years' incarceration. No sexual-offender classification hearing was held, and no order was entered classifying Mitchell as a sexual offender. Therefore, Mitchell was a sexually oriented offender by operation of law under former R.C. Chapter 2950 ("Megan's Law").² Upon his release from prison, Mitchell was required to annually register as a sexual offender for ten years.

Mitchell received a notice from the Ohio Attorney General stating that he had been reclassified under Am.Sub.S.B. No. 10 ("Senate Bill 10") as a Tier III sex offender and that he was required to register with the local sheriff every 90 days for life. Mitchell filed an R.C. 2950.031(E) petition to contest his reclassification, challenging the constitutionality of Senate Bill 10. He also filed an R.C. 2950.11(F)(2) motion for relief from the community-notification provisions. After a hearing, the trial court overruled Mitchell's constitutional challenges to Senate Bill 10 and denied his R.C. 2950.031(E) petition. The court granted Mitchell's R.C. 2950.11(F)(2) motion, finding that he was not subject to community notification.

Mitchell's first assignment of error, which alleges that the retroactive application of Senate Bill 10's tier-classification and registration requirements violates the constitutional ban on ex post facto laws, is overruled.

"The Ex Post Facto Clause applies only to criminal statutes."³ We held in *Sewell v. State*⁴ that the tier-classification and registration provisions of Senate Bill 10 are remedial and not punitive, and that they do not have the effect of converting a remedial statute into a punitive one. Because Senate Bill 10's classification and registration provisions are civil and remedial, not criminal, they do not violate the constitutional ban on ex post facto laws.

Mitchell's second and fourth assignments of error are overruled because the retroactive application of Senate Bill 10's tier-classification and registration requirements does not violate the prohibition on retroactive laws contained in Section 28, Article II of the Ohio Constitution or the Double Jeopardy Clause of the Ohio Constitution.⁵ Mitchell's arguments under the United States Constitution are also overruled on Sewell's reasoning.

Mitchell's third assignment of error alleges that Senate Bill 10's requirement that the attorney general reclassify him as a Tier III sex offender violates the separation-of-powers doctrine inherent in Ohio's Constitution. We addressed and rejected that argument in Sewell v. State,⁶ holding that the retroactive application of Senate Bill 10's tier-classification and registration requirements did not violate the separation-of-powers doctrine. In Green v. State,⁷ we revisited the separation-of-powers issue in light of the Ohio Supreme Court's decision in State v. Bodyke.⁸ We held in Green that the supreme court's decision in Bodyke did not apply to cases in which there is no prior court order classifying the offender under a sex-offender category.⁹ In cases where there has been no prior judicial adjudication of the offender under a sex-offender category, our holding in Sewell is still applicable.¹⁰

The record does not contain a final court order classifying Mitchell under Megan's Law. Therefore, the Bodyke decision does not apply to him, and pursuant to our holdings in Sewell and Green, his reclassification by the attorney general under Senate Bill 10 does not violate the separation-of-powers doctrine.¹¹ The third assignment of error is overruled. We note that the prosecutor has filed a "motion to submit on the authority of State v. Bodyke." For the reasons set forth in our disposition of the third assignment of error, the prosecutor's motion is hereby overruled.

Mitchell's fifth assignment of error is overruled. Mitchell has no standing to challenge Senate Bill 10's residency restriction because he has not shown that he lives in or owns property within the restricted area or that he has been forced to move outside the restricted area.¹² We note that the Ohio Supreme Court held in *Hyle v. Porter*¹³ that because the residency restriction in former R.C. 2950.031 was not expressly made retrospective, it could not be applied to an offender who had bought his home and committed his offense before the effective date of the statute.

Mitchell's sixth and seventh assignments of error, which allege that reclassifying him as a Tier III sex offender under Senate Bill 10 constituted a breach of his plea agreement and an impairment of an obligation of contract, in violation of Section 28, Article II of the Ohio Constitution and Clause I, Section 10, Article I of the United States Constitution, are overruled.¹⁴ The retroactive application of Senate Bill 10's tier-classification and registration requirements to a sex offender who pleaded guilty to a sexually oriented offense pursuant to a plea bargain does not violate the Contract Clause of the Ohio and United States Constitutions, because when the offender entered his plea he had no reasonable expectation that his sex offense would never be made the subject of future legislation and no vested right concerning his registration duties.¹⁵ Senate Bill 10's tier-classification and registration requirements are remedial, collateral consequences of the underlying criminal sex offense, and they do not affect a plea agreement previously entered between the state and the offender.¹⁶

No. 08CA3046, 2009-Ohio-112, reversed in part and remanded on other grounds, In re Sexual Offender Reclassification Cases, 126 Ohio St.3d 322, 2010-Ohio-3753, 933 N.E.2d 801; *State v. ¹³ 117 Ohio St.3d 165, 2008-Ohio-542, 882 N.E.2d 899.

¹⁴ Judge Mallory agrees that the sixth and seventh assignments of error are without merit not for the reasons given in the body of this judgment entry, but for the reasons set forth in his separate concurrence in Nixon v. State, 1st Dist. No. C-090219, 2010-Ohio-767.

OHIO FIRST DISTRICT COURT OF APPEALS

Mitchell's eighth assignment of error, alleging that the retroactive application of Senate Bill 10's registration requirements constitutes cruel and unusual punishment, is overruled because the statutes are civil and remedial, not punitive.¹⁷ Therefore, the registration requirements cannot be viewed as punishment.¹⁸

Therefore, the judgment of the trial court is affirmed.

Further, a certified copy of this judgment entry shall constitute the mandate, which shall be sent to the trial court under App.R. 27. Costs shall be taxed under App.R. 24.
