

For Immediate Release
February 22, 2011

For more information, contact:
Kellie Wise, Hamilton County: (513) 946-4405
Jocile Ehrlich, Better Business Bureau: (513) 421-1025

Small business fraud presentation at Reading City Council meeting

WHEN: TODAY, February 22
7:30pm

WHERE: 1000 Market Street
Reading, Ohio 45231

WHAT: Individuals aren't the only victims of fraud and scams – small businesses are common targets for scammers looking to make a quick buck. From phishing emails to office supply scams, small business fraud can cost unsuspecting companies thousands of dollars and valuable time and resources.

As a member of the Hamilton County Coalition to Stop Fraud, Scams & Abuse, Better Business Bureau of Cincinnati will offer a short presentation to the Reading City Council about resources available to small businesses looking to avoid fraud and scams in our community.

Joining Better Business Bureau will be Commissioner Greg Hartmann, President of the Hamilton County Board of Commissioners. Commissioner Hartmann will give a brief overview of the Coalition, and discuss the group's 2011 plans to help Hamilton County residents combat consumer fraud, identity theft and scams.

###