RIT Sponsors National Competition for Students with Hearing Loss Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) is accepting entries in its fifth annual Digital Arts, Film and Animation Competition for deaf or hard-of-hearing middle and high school students. Students in grades 9 through 12 can use their creative talents and artistic expression in six categories: Web Page Design, Graphic Media, 3-D Animation, Film, Interactive Media, and Photo Imaging. Last year's winning entries came from students in California, Minnesota, Arkansas, New York, Kansas, Virginia, and Illinois. Students submitting winning entries in each category will receive a $250 prize and an all-expenses-paid trip to Rochester, NY, for the awards ceremony in the spring and an exhibition of their work. RIT is home to the National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID), where more than 1,300 students with hearing loss from around the world study, live and socialize with 15,000 hearing students on campus. Students may submit up to two entries.

Entry forms, contest rules and other details are available at www.rit.edu/NTID/ArtsNR

The deadline for entries is Jan. 15, 2010. For more information: www.rit.edu/NTID

The Carnegie Visual & Performing Arts Center presents:

OLIVER!

Sunday, December 20th at 3:00pm, and Sunday December 27th at 3:00pm.

These shows will be both closed-captioned and ASL interpreted - Be sure to let them know which you prefer when you buy your tickets as this will determine where you are seated!

A lot of effort was put into getting this performance captioned. Show your support for the need for captioning in live theatre by attending this performance!

To purchase tickets, email aubreyshermock@gmail.com or visit www.thecarnegie.com
